QUITMAN ROAD CAN'T BE BEAT

SECOND TRAVELOGUE DEALS WITH NODAWAY SOUTHWEST.

A DRAINAGE DITCH NEEDED GREATLY

River Almost a Thing of the Past in
This Section—Homes and Ranches
Are Noted.

(By Vernon Nash.)

The second installment of the county "travelogue" by the news editor to the southwest part of the county, started yesterday by remarking that it is a great road between Graham and Skidmore. It is, but it is even better between Skidmore and Quitman.

It was along this road that we ran up a by-road to see Floyd Brown and to take his renewal for another year to Nodaway county's paper. He had a fine bunch of hogs feeding in an alfalfa field and as an indication of what fine feed it is he remarked that few of the hogs ever come up for corn at feeding time. The alfalfa is sufficient and satisfying.

A few miles further on we found H. T. McDonald busy in putting up the largest crop of hay he ever harvested. He does not expect to get done for three weeks, so great is the yield of timothy and clover this year. And over a few more hills is "Sunny Side," country home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bushy.

After taking a turn or two over Quitman, we headed for the Billy ranch. We went out over the bridge and near the place on the Nodaway river where the ton of fish was recently caught by a group of men. Maryville's city officials are the guests of Robert Gex on this river a few miles further south near Graham today.

The drainage ditch proposition is most noticeable near Quitman, the river being almost a thing of the past. The old bed is so filled in and so covered with trees that it is hard to distinguish it except for the trees and foliage along the bank. And the ditch carries the water off straight and with dispatch.

Billy's a Big Establishment.

We are all inclined, it seems to me, to think of Nodaway as a great agricultural county, but we fail to think of the magnificent ranches over the county when we begin to list the great industries. Billy's ranch is really one of the great businesses of Nodaway.

It was getting late last Friday when we arrived there, so a hurried visit was necessary and only what could be seen from the road is noted. A great deal of cement work has recently been done. Several large twin cement silos have been built.

A cook house and several tenant houses of solid cement or cement blocks have been erected and are being used. Some of the silos are solid and others are the cement stave kind. The hog lot is floored with cement, as is the basement of the hog sheds.

Has Large Auto Truck.

The ranch has a large auto truck for the hauling of feed and the transportation of all kinds of heavy materials. The land is also blessed with a large number of ever-living springs. Several traction and tractor engines are owned. The land lies south and west of Quitman across the river and upon the bluffs.

It was in Quitman that we all stopped for some refreshments and little Nelle Marian Smith "dropped" an "It is to laugh" remark which we all enjoyed. Mrs. Smith and the two daughters, Nelle Marian and Eudora, made the swing around the circuit with us. "Buster," unfortunate pup, was also taken along and "wooled" during all the trip by the girls.

But to the joke. Nelle Marian took strawberry soda pop for hers and requested that it be poured into a glass. (Continued to Last Page.)

REV. CASE RECEIVES INVITATION TO PASTORATE AT EUGENE, ORE.

ACCEPTANCE IS LIKELY

Has Expressed Desire to Take Place and Release by Congregation
Is Thought Probable.

The Rev. William Moll Case, pastor of the Presbyterian church of this city, has received a call from the Presbyterian church of Eugene, Ore., and it is likely that he will accept. Rev. Mr. Case has been away since July 1 on his vacation and has been spending part of the time at Caldwell, Idaho, his home before he came to Maryville.

The Rev. Mr. Case has written back to ascertain what his friends and members of the congregation think, and has indicated a desire to accept the call. It is thought probable that the congregation will release him.

The field at Eugene is a much larger one than here. Eugene is a city of 15,000 and the Presbyterian church at that place is one of the strongest in the city.

Rev. Mr. Case is expected to return to Maryville about August 1.

WILKERSON INCITY TODAY

MAY UNEARTH ANOTHER IMPOR-TANT DEVELOPMENT.

Detective From the Burns Agency Still Working on Moore Ax Murder
Case of Villisca.

J. N. Wilkerson of the Burns agency, who has been working on the Moore ax murder case of Villisca, Ia., since April, 1914, was in Maryville today and is making an investigation of the visit of the party who claimed to be Mansfield in this city the latter part of May. What may be another important development in the evidence may be unearthed here.

Mr. Wilkerson will remain in the city overnight and is to see Chief of Police John Shonley and Night Officer John Coleman when they return from the fishing trip of the city officials this evening. Coleman was in County Treasurer Tilson's office when a party claiming to be Mansfield called there for money from Villisca.

Mr. Wilkerson was of the opinion that Mansfield was the man in Maryville. Since the failure of the grand jury at Red Oak to indict Mansfield the detective has nevertheless continued his efforts.

R. S. BRANIGER TAKES TRIP.

Leaves to Inspect Farm in South Dakota.

R. S. Braniger leaves tonight for several days' business trip to South Dakota. Mr. Braniger has a farm there and intends to arrange for having it sowed in wheat this fall. He says that while the land there sells for much less than land in this section it produces fine crops of both barley and wheat. After making his trip north he is to take a trip south near Springfield, where he has another farm.

J. W. (Boss) Morris of St. Joseph was in Maryville today. Mr. Morris is boosting the candidacy of Fred Gardner of St. Louis for governor.

TO HOLD SOCIAL TO ASK WITHDRAWAL

D. A. R. WILL DEVOTE PROCEEDS TO BEAUTIFYING CEMETERY.

WOULDERECT MONUMENT

With Band Concert to Draw Crowds
Women Expect the Hearty Cooperation of the Public.

The members of the D. A. R. will again remind the public of their beautiful work of honoring the dead when they hold their ice cream social on the courthouse lawn Thursday evening. The proceeds of this social will be devoted to beautifying and improving the old city cemetery, which has taken on a new look since the Daughters of the Revolution took it in hand a little over two years ago.

The cemetery which is holding the interest and giving the D. A. R. a chance to show the real nature of its work, is the oldest cemetery in town. There many members of the oldest families are buried, and it is honored by being the last resting place of a great body of men and women who were with Maryville in her infancy and helped to make the town what it is today.

The cemetery was abandoned by the county a great many years ago. In the time of neglect that followed the monuments were overturned, the graves were sunken and the whole place was overgrown with weeds. This neglect and ruin might have gone on indefinitely had it not been for the D. A. R.

One of the principal good works of this organization is the caring for the graves of the soldiers who fought in the War of the Revolution. Now in Maryville there are no such graves and consequently it was the purpose of the organization to take up the work of caring for any neglected graves in the vicinity.

The results of their work up to date are: Through their efforts the old city cemetery has been restored. Money was obtained from families who had relatives buried in the cemetery and the county court was prevailed upon to assist. The court had the old trees removed and the roadway improved. The D. A. R. had all of the graves fixed, and the monuments laid down in cement.

The problem before the women at present is the beautifying of the cemetery. With the money that they receive next Thursday evening they will have the grounds put in good condition and see to the arrangement of flower beds. If there should be money enough—and even if there isn't—this is one of the "dreams" of the D. A. R. which they expect to have come true soon—the women wish to erect a monument to the memory of the dead buried in the cemetery.

Since it is the evening of the band concert, the women expect the hearty co-operation of all of the strollers who come to town to hear the band, and they hope for enough money to aid them in carrying out not only the minor part of their plan, but also the major part—that is of having the large marble shaft in position in the cemetery before the winter days are upon us.

The committees on arrangements, who are working hard to make the social a success, are:

Committee of General Management—Mrs. D. J. Thomas, Mrs. E. G. Orrear, Mrs. Edward Gray, Mrs. Will Montgomery, Miss Orril Helwig.

Committee on Finance—Mrs. Charles T. Bell, Miss Ruth Montgomery.

Committee on Decoration—Miss Mary Evans, Miss Ethel Embree and Miss Katherine Helwig.

$2-a-Day Hotel.

E. H. Bainum has purchased the Ream hotel of C. P. Anderson and will take possession on August 1. Considerable remodeling of the hotel property will be done, to start at once, and will consist of rearranging the entire lower floor. A plate glass front will also be put in. The other floors will also be overhauled. M. Nusbaum is the owner of the building.

Mr. Bainum intends to make it a $2-a-day house and to give the best of service. With the changes made, it will make that hotel one of the best in this section.

1916 A BANNER SESSION

MARKS TENTH YEAR OF RIDPATH-VAVTER CHAUTAUQUA.

To Be Held in Washington School
Park—Tickets on Sale Now—Premium for Early Buying.

The season of 1916 marks the tenth year of the Ridpath-Vavter Chautauqua System, which will come to Maryville next week. The management for this reason has planned to make it a banner season and is providing something in the way of extra music at each program, believing that musical numbers are the most attractive.

The chautauqua will be held in the Washington School park just the same as last year. The advance sale of seats makes it possible for those who buy early to save 50 cents on a ticket. The prices of tickets are: Adults, $1.50, and children, $1. The tickets are on sale at the Commercial club, at several of the stores and at the banks. The places are designated by signs announcing the sale of tickets.

The Junior Chautauqua is to be especially attractive this year. The "Tell Me a Story, Lady" will be present, and in addition there will be a children's parade at the opening of the program, and a children's pageant at the closing.

2 NEW ORDINANCES ALL ARE IN THE LEAD

WILL MAKE BOOTLEGGING A PO-LICE COURT OFFENSE.

LAW POWERLESS BEFORE FIGHT ON I.N.G.O.P. RANKS

All Previous Legislation Levelled at Violation of Dramshop Rules—
Not for Local Option.

City Attorney George Pat Wright has drafted two ordinances making bootlegging in Maryville a police court offense. These ordinances will be presented to the city council at their next meeting, Friday, August 4, and will be adopted by them.

Mr. Wright on examining the city ordinances recently found there was no law making bootlegging an offense and no way to punish those who distribute liquor, except to arrest the offender and turn him over to the state officials.

One reason for this is the fact that Maryville has been operating under the regulating system and all ordinances were leveled at violations of the dramshop law. But since local option is in force in Maryville, and it has been since the moment of the last publication of the result of such local option election, the regulating system and every law leveled at violations of the dramshop law was suspended and the prohibitory system went into effect. But there was no law for offenses and no penalty, so Mr. Wright has drawn up two ordinances.

One ordinance is as follows: It shall not be lawful for any person within the limits of the city of Maryville to directly or indirectly sell, give away or barter in any manner whatever, any kind of intoxicating liquors or beverage containing alcohol in any quantity whatever.

The penalty is a fine of from $300 to $1,000, or not less than six months in the city jail nor more than twelve months or by both such fine and imprisonment.

The other ordinance will be against keeping, storing or delivering intoxicating liquors or beverages containing alcohol in any quantity whatever for or to another person within the city limits. The penalty will be the same as in the above ordinance.

HAVE CAPTURED 26,226 GERMANS

OFFICIAL SUMMARY GIVES TOTAL OF ALLIES' PRISONERS.

PRESSURE RENEWED ON SOMME FRONT

Powerful Attacks and Violent Bombardments Have Thrown Germans Back Considerably.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

London, July 25.—So terrific have been the artillery duels on the Somme River front that the sound of the cannonade can be heard in the towns on the south coast of England, 150 miles away.

Since the battle of the Somme opened on the first of July, 26,226 Germans have been captured by the Allies according to the official summary of the result of the fighting issued today. In addition to the prisoners, 140 guns, about 40 mortars and forts and several hundred machine guns have been taken. Further ground has been taken at Poiziers where the Germans have been fighting desperately to hold part of the village.

French Also Make ew Progress.

Paris, July 25.—Renewing their pressure south of the Somme River, the French, by powerful attacks, preluded with violent bombardment, have thrown the Germans back considerably and have made new progress. The gains of the French were reported in the official Communiqué today. In the Verdun section there were strong artillery actions last night. On the right bank of the Meuse the Germans were forced into Alsace and attacked the French, but all assaults were repulsed.

Berlin Admits Allies Successes.

Berlin, July 25.—Successes for the French and Russians are admitted in an official report issued by the German war office today. The English attacks on the Pozieres-Maurepas front north of the Somme were broken down. Further south the French gained ground near Estres. On the eastern front the Russian attacks south of Riga and along the Dvina were repulsed but the Russians succeeded in penetrating German positions on the Stonowka front south of Berestek. In these regions the Linsinger forces lost some of their first lines of trenches.

Italians Have Taken Montelimon.

Rome, July 25.—After a series of strong attacks lasting more than twenty-four hours, the Italians are in possession of Montelimon. The Italians also repulsed the Austrian attacks on the Asaigo plateau, gaining several trenches.

Turkish Armies Routed by Russians.

Petrograd, July 25.—The Turkish armies in Armenia have been routed by the Russians, according to an official report.

DELEGATIONS ARRIVING

MEMBERS OF W. C. T. U. HERE
FROM NODAWAY TOWNS.

Morning Session Begins 9:30 o'clock
Tomorrow—Interesting Session and Excellent Music Promised.

Delegates to the Nodaway county W. C. T. U. convention to be held at the Main Street Methodist church all day tomorrow will begin to arrive this evening. The first group of women will probably come from Burlington Junction this afternoon. The Skidmore and the Guilford delegations and the eight contestants for the gold medal will come in cars tomorrow, the weather permitting.

The morning session will begin promptly at 9:30 o'clock with devotions led by Mrs. C. B. Roberts, president of the Maryville W. C. T. U. At 11:30 o'clock the discussion on "The Phase of W. C. T. U. Work That Most Appeals to Me" will be carried on by the members, personal experiences being in order. It is expected that a number of interesting phases of the W. C. T. U. work will be brought out in this discussion.

Mrs. Etta F. Winter, state superintendent of purity and rescue work, will give two lectures during the session. Mrs. Winter is a woman of wide experience, and her talks will have to do with the difficulties and rewards connected with rescue work.

A special feature of the program will be the musical numbers under the direction of Mrs. F. P. Robinson.

M. U. BOYS BEAT THE GIRLS

Landladies Testify That the Men
Keep Rooms Neater and Cleaner
Than the Women.

"Boys keep their rooms cleaner and nicer than girls do," said Mrs. Gussie Smith, a students' boarding and rooming house keeper at the University of Missouri, when she awarded a $5 gold piece to her neatest roomer. At the beginning of the school year, Mrs. Smith announced to her roomers that she would give a prize to the student who kept his room the neatest during the school term.

"I have had girl roomers," said Mrs. Smith, "but these prize winning boys can beat them any time when it comes to keeping a room clean. The girls depend upon someone else to keep their rooms clean."

SOW THE JULY CROP

EMERGENCY GRAIN AND GRASS
FOR LATE PLANTING.

SENT OUT BY THE STATE

Board of Agriculture Recommends Things for Fields in Which Floods or Drouth Come.

Asked to name the most practical of the "Emergency Crops" for Missouri when any portion or all of a spring-planted crop has failed, Samuel M. Jordan of the Missouri State Board of Agriculture concisely summarized the kinds that have given the widest range of service, as follows:

There are several "Emergency Crops"—among which are sorghum, feterita, Kafir corn, millet, cowpeas and soy beans. It is hardly likely in the latitude of Central Missouri that under average conditions any of these crops (except millet) would ripen any seed when sowed in July.

Where feterita or Kafir are grown they can best be handled by drilling in rows and giving the crops some cultivation.

Where sorghum is wanted for hay a satisfactory method is to sow from 65 to 100 pounds of seed per acre, using every hoe of the grain drill. Early Amber is earliest.

It is hardly worth while to refer further to millet, since practically all are familiar with growing it for hay. German millet will often make a profitable seed crop.

Where cowpeas are used late in the season, seed from three pecks to a bushel and a half per acre, using every hoe of the grain drill, should make a splendid pasture, or it could be turned over for green manure.

Where the soybean is used it seems to give better satisfaction to stop up every other hoe in the grain drill. In 1914 several farmers ripened seed by sowing in July, but it will be remembered that the Fall was exceedingly late. It is desired to make hay of the crop the soybean would be preferable to cowpeas, as it is more easily cured. Sudan grass is also recommended.

If ninety-day seed corn can be secured and planted on good ground, fair fodder or silage might reasonably be expected from it—but it is more or less doubtful whether it would produce corn of reasonable value. One difficulty with planting corn so late in the season is that it is worked upon so badly by insect pests that our efforts are often attended by disappointment.

It should be remembered that a well prepared seed bed in a fertile soil is one of the primary things necessary for a good crop. If the seed bed is not well worked down and in good condition, and extreme dry weather follows, the chances are that the seed would not properly germinate and good results could not be expected of any emergency crop.

If any of the crops are sown that require cultivation some tool that will work the ground shallow will be the best. If the ground is prepared with the disc only, the disking should be followed very quickly with the seeding or the crab grass and foxtail will give a great deal of annoyance, especially if the weather should remain wet.

Cowpeas and soybeans may be cultivated with a harrow after they are four or five inches high. In the event that we can do the work in time when the weather is very warm and the ground dry we will do little harm to the plants if we slant the teeth well back (say about 45 degrees) always careful to keep the teeth free from trash. The cultivation of the soybean, especially, by this method has proven very satisfactory.

It is some times desired to sow both cowpeas or soybeans and sorghum, and a method that is sometimes employed is to sow the beans perhaps from one to four days ahead of the sorghum, drilling them in rows the width of corn planter tracks, then by drilling the sorghum with a one-horse grain drill or with an ordinary drill, removing enough hoes that the beans would not be disturbed. The beans sown at the same time with sorghum will come up first, but in a very little while the sorghum will outgrow the beans and very largely smother them out. For this reason a very good idea where possible is to give the beans a few days' start.

When pasture is an object, Dwarf Essex rape is a good crop. Five to seven pounds of seed per acre should be sown. This is a good feed for hogs and good for cattle and sheep if care in pasturing is used.

Buckwheat is easily grown, is fine to smother out weeds, and the grain commonly brings a good price. Buckwheat is the shortest season grain crop, does best on light, well-drained soil, lodges badly on rich land, kills at the first frost, and does pretty well on thin land. About one bushel per acre with a grain drill is sown.

RESPECTS TO CUTOUT FIEND

Hopkins Woman Writes Scathing Denunciation of Sleep Killers to Journal.

The cut-out fiend is now under discussion in Hopkins and a lady reader residing in east Hopkins hands us the following with the request that it be published:

That ravenous individual, "the open-muffler boob," as he is often called, is to be sat upon. And it is about time. There are those who hope he will be sat upon so hard that he will sew up his cut-out and cut out his racket, now and for all time to come in the future. He is a nuisance of the first water. Hereafter, the open muffler on automobiles is to become a dim memory. The man who has an automobile that will not skip along rapidly enough and will not pull the load he imposes on his car should get another car. The "open muffler" way of getting there faster is all a joke. The open muffler belongs to the man who has a loud voice, wears loud clothes and has a loud reputation. The open muffler usually sounds like the man who holds the wheel and operates the throttle.—Hopkins Journal.

LIVE STOCK

WATER WORK-HORSES OFTEN

Quite Profitable and Humane to Provide Means of Giving Water Throughout the Day.

Some farmers find it quite profitable, and certainly quite humane, to give their horses a bucket of water several times during the long mornings and afternoons of the summer. For this purpose they arrange a barrel on a small sled, and each morning take it with them to the field.

During the long mornings and afternoons it will be found to be profitable to give the teams a bucket of water.

The horses do not drink much at a time, but they do relish it, and it stimulates them and in no small manner averts the danger of overheating. Users of horses in cities know the value of watering them often, and they do not pass a drinking place without offering their horses water. These teams are generally worked under high pressure and under distressing conditions, yet with fair treatment the horses stand up well and do a great volume of work. In the dirt and heat of the great cities it is safe to assume that if the practice of watering only three times a day were observed, much less work could be done and many horses would fall victims to heat and overwork.

RIGHT MANAGEMENT OF HOGS

Protection From Sun, Pure Water and Succulent Grazing, Are Three Important Factors.

Sun shades, pure water and succulent grazing are three very important factors in the summer management of swine. Hogs suffer more from heat than any other class of animals. When they were removed from their native shaded haunts, and confined in pens and open yards, exposed to the hot rays of the sun, and by the change transformed from lank, large-lunged animals into modern fat-backs, they were made peculiarly susceptible to the sizzling rays of the summer sun.

Hogs that are confined in open yards, where they are exposed to the hot sun do well to keep alive, even though they are consuming sufficient feed to make two pounds of pork a day. Sunshades mean comfort, and comfort brings economy in the use of feed, rapid gains in flesh, and increased profits at the season's end.

Hogs do not perspire. Other animals are provided with pores to carry off excretions and remove heat from the body, but not so with the hog. A few large pores on the legs provide the only means of carrying off excretions, while the thick layers of fat check the radiation of the heat from the body. Not only is this so, but hogs are fed more heat-producing food than other farm animals, and in the operation of converting this feed into meat there is a great amount of heat which cannot readily escape.

COW'S MILK FOR THE LAMBS

Ordinary Baby Bottle and Nipple Will Be Found Satisfactory in Raising Orphans.

If properly handled, the orphan lamb or the lamb which its mother refuses to own can be raised successfully on cow's milk. Sheep milk is nearly twice as rich in fat as cow's milk, which for the lamb should therefore be enriched by the addition of pure cream. Since the lamb usually nurses its mother at least once each hour it should be fed on cow's milk at the same intervals, especially for the first ten days or two weeks, after which the intervals may be gradually lengthened.

While the lamb is very young it should not be given more than two ounces of milk at a feeding, as this is all he would take from his mother. Use an ordinary baby bottle and nipple. When the lamb is ten days or two weeks of age it will commence to eat a little, and from this time on should gradually be encouraged to procure most of its nourishment from grain, roots, etc.

TREATMENT FOR MALE LAMBS

They Should Be Castrated When Very Young, as the Danger Then Is Not Very Great.

When male lambs are not sold promptly, it is important that they be castrated. They will sell better, make better growth, and give less trouble. They should be castrated early, as the danger is then very slight. The main point in castration is to avoid contamination. Hands and instruments should be kept cleaned with a good antiseptic, the wound should be washed, and then the flock should be put in a clean, grassy lot or field.

ARE THEY CITIZENS?

INTERESTING PROBLEM OF AMERICANS IN EUROPE'S ARMIES.

MAY NEED SPECIAL LAW

Men Entering Other Troops Swore Allegiance to Another Power and Thus Forfeited U. S. Citizenship.

Special to the Democrat-Forum.

London, July 25.—The sixteen to twenty thousand Americans in the British army are in danger of expatriation.

Unless something can be done to reconcile their oath of allegiance to King George the Fifth, with the American Expatriation Act of 1907, the citizen of the United States now serving with the British forces will find himself a man without a country.

These men, according to American law, have expatriated themselves by their oath of allegiance to a foreign state, and will have to be naturalized before they can regain their American citizenship.

Must Take Oath of Allegiance.

On joining the British army one takes the following oath:

"I swear by the Almighty God that I will be faithful and bear true allegiance to His Majesty King George the Fifth, His Heirs and Successors, and that I will, as in duty bound, honestly and faithfully defend His Majesty, His Heirs and Successors, in Person, Crown and Dignity against all enemies, and will observe and obey all orders of His Majesty, His Heirs and Successors, and of the Generals and Officers set over me. So help me God."

How can this oath be reconciled with the Act passed by the American Congress in 1907 which reads: "That

We are authorized to announce the candidacy of W. A. Burks for sheriff of Nodaway county, subject to the action of the Democratic primary, August 1.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

To the Democratic voters of the first senatorial district of Missouri: Since announcing my candidacy for senator on the Democratic ticket from this district, I have been called with the national guard of this state into the country's service by President Wilson.

I am rendering this service willingly because it is the duty that every good citizen should be glad and willing to perform. I cannot say how long I will be away. I feel, however, that we will return to our home station before election, and certainly before the next legislature meets.

I must trust my candidacy to my friends and the Democratic voters of the district, and I pledge to them that if they nominate and elect me to this important position, that I shall be glad to render the same prompt service to their interests in the state that I am now rendering to our country.

any American citizen shall have been deemed to have expatriated himself when he has been naturalized in any foreign state in conformity with its laws, or when he has taken an oath of allegiance to any foreign state."

20,000 Americans Expatriated.

Clearly the law says 20,000 Americans have expatriated themselves. This problem has become so serious a test case is being made of Adam Wreath, an American who came over to England with a consignment of horses for the British army. By the terms of his contract with the steamship company he was supposed to be returned to the United States by the first company boat sailing after he had landed his horses. But he, like so many other horse guards, begged to go ashore, and enlisted in the army.

After some months Wreath was put in jail pending investigations as to his nationality. The American consul general asked the war office for his release and pleaded his contract to be returned to the United States as an excuse for his deportation. The war office has consented and Adam Wreath is on his way to America. His case will be made a test case, the citizenship of all the Americans in the British army depending on the result.

Minors Not Responsible for Oath.

The American consulate has been kept busy rescuing minor Americans from the army and sending them home to their parents. These minors, according to both American and British law, cannot be held responsible for any oath they may take during their minority.

But those over twenty-one years of age are held by the British and also by the Department of State in Washington to be responsible for their oath, and therefore they must continue in the army until the end of the war.

What will happen when peace is declared, whether the United States government will make some special law to cover their expatriation, or whether they will have to become naturalized before regaining their American citizenship, are questions which are being much discussed by Americans in the British army.

For First Time Since 1870 Papal Flag Flies Over Steamer.

TO CONVEY REPRESENTATIVES

Painted With White and Yellow Stripes—Safety Said to Be Guaranteed—Reported Von Buelow Believed Best Way to Punish Italy Was to Restore Temporal Power to Pope.

Rome.—For the first time since 1870 the Papal flag is flying over a steamer owned by the Vatican, and strangely enough, it is sheltered in the Civita Vecchia harbor with the consent of the government at Rome. When United Italy under Victor Emmanuel II. established the house of Savoy at Rome in 1870, the pope was deprived of all power and position as a sovereign. He became a voluntary prisoner in the Vatican, while the king based his court in the former papal palace of the Quirinal. As every king has been a devoted Catholic, the enmity between the king and pope has been a political expediency, a fiction in fact. Loyalty to the Catholic church on the part of influential members of the Italian cabinet, combined with the fear of German submarines, has brought to the pope the privilege of flying his own flag once more in Italian waters. The steamer has been bought by the Vatican to convey officials of the Catholic church whom the pope desires to send abroad as his representatives. The first voyage will be to South America, to convey the new papal nuncio, Mgr. Bassilio di Torregrossa, to Buenos Aires.

The steamer, to be known as the Nunciatus, is painted with broad white and yellow stripes easily distinguished by submarines. Its safety is guaranteed, it is understood, by one of those secret agreements with Germany of which the papacy has been accused at various times by the quadruple entente. There would appear, however, to be no necessity for such a guarantee after the German government had been informed that such a vessel was on the high seas. Nothing would be gained by its destruction through a submarine. On the other hand, to grant it safety, even without this being requested by the papacy, would warm the hearts of Emperor William's Catholic subjects and stimulate their loyalty to him.

Prince von Buelow, a diplomatic envoy at the Vatican in his younger years, long before he was German ambassador at Rome, has always been friendly to the papal government. It is reported in London and has been for eight or nine months that Buelow believes in the restoration of temporal power to the pope as the best method of punishing Italy for participating in the war against her former allies of the triple alliance. While making extended visits to Switzerland Buelow has had frequent consultations with Catholic cardinals and other dignitaries of the church.

The pope's refusal to align himself on the side of the quadruple entente and especially to make public any protest against the invasion of Catholic Belgium by the Germans is declared in England to be due to a promise made by the sovereigns of the central empires that his temporal authority is to be restored after the war. The plan is, according to these reports, to make the pope the political as well as the spiritual sovereign in Palestine. A small state would be established, including Jerusalem and the other holy places as well as the seaport of Jaffa. The territory is believed to be enormously rich in natural resources and to be able to support a cardinal viceroy, who would rule there in the name of the pope.

The British government a few months after the beginning of the war made the extraordinary move of sending a minister to the Vatican, Sir Henry Howard, who had had a long diplomatic experience. This was a recognition of the pope's status as a sovereign, which Britain, along with all other non-Catholic governments, withdrew from the pope in 1870. Russia at the same time reopened her legation at the Vatican, where there had been no envoy for some time on account of the refusal of Russia to grant Catholics the protection which the papacy demanded. France has had no representative at the Vatican for some time, and neutral Catholic countries like Spain had also broken off diplomatic relations with the pope before the war.

FINE FLAVOR OF VEGETABLES

Improved or Impaired by Fertilizers Employed—Too Much Nitrogen Makes Strawberry Soft.

Aside from considerations of mellow soil and sufficient moisture, the flavor and other qualities of vegetables are improved or impaired by the fertilizers employed. The peculiar processes within the soil or within the plant itself which produce these conditions of flavor are difficult to understand, but it is a fact that varieties of fruits and vegetables will show some improvement under favorable conditions of fertilization as hardly to be recognized.

Hog manure used alone sometimes gives an unpleasant flavor to celery and root crops. It also taints tobacco. An excess of phosphates helps to give tomatoes a sweeter flavor. Salt is very helpful to the quality of asparagus, onions and celery. It makes the potash in the soil active. It is used at the rate of 200 pounds to the acre.

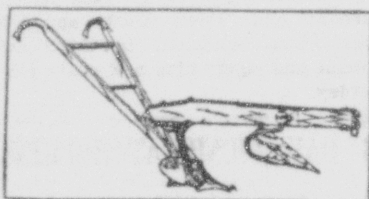

Pigeon manure helps to develop melons of fine flavor. Beets grown on soil fertilized with poultry manure and ashes develop a fine, sweet flavor.

Poultry and barnyard manures improve the quality of onions. Fresh barnyard manure impairs the shipping qualities of strawberries. Too much nitrogen makes the fruit softer but unleached wood ashes with well-rotted manure improves the quality of the berries. An excess of nitrogen has a peculiar effect upon the Stone variety of tomatoes tending to make the blossoms drop. It also tends to make them sterile.

FOR SPRAYING APPLE TREES

Best Formula Is Concentrated Lime-Sulphur—Apply for Codling Moth About August First.

The best formulas for spraying apple trees and any other fruit trees except the peach, is concentrated lime-sulphur at the strength of one to forty for apples and one to fifty for the other fruits, and two and a half pounds of arsenate of lead. The first spraying should be made just as the pink of the blossom shows. This should be followed by another application as the blossom petals are dropping. In about two weeks the trees should be sprayed again, and winter varieties of apples should have another application for the second brood of codling moth about the first of August.

All fruit trees except the peach should receive the first three applications. Plums should receive a spraying after that at intervals of two weeks, until within about a month of ripening time. No fruit should be sprayed within a month of ripening time, because sufficient time should be allowed for the removal of all traces of the spray material by the weather before the fruit is harvested.

Spraying gets the clean fruit.

A wheelbarrow, mowing machine, or farm wagon looks well in its proper place—but not in the front yard.

The farm garden can be made the most productive acre on the place. Have it rich, mellow and weedless.

It is about as bad for a farmer to spend too much money for buildings and farm equipment as it is for him to spend too little.

PRICES HIGH NOW?

THEN COST OF CALICO IN 1864 WOULD SCARE YOU.

FIFTY CENTS A YARD

And Other Civil War Prices Increased in Proportion—All Due to Inferior Merchandising.

Persons who feel injured at the increased cost of dry goods would be very much surprised were they confronted with the prices that our grandmothers paid for calicoes, flannel and thread in the Civil War times.

It is interesting to compare war-time prices of fifty years ago with those of today. In the summer of 1864—fifty-two years ago—the climax was reached in war-time prices effected by the Civil War, when calicoes reached 50 cents a yard, and other dry goods went just as high in proportion.

Loud as the outcry is today at the rising cost of living, what would the public say if the retail prices had to reach a standard where, for instance, the wholesale price of bleached canton flannel was 80 cents? At any rate a merchant in those days was losing money if he sold it at retail at $1 a yard. Spool cotton was selling at $2 a dozen spools. Gingham averaged 45 cents a yard. Bleached cottons averaged over 70 cents. Ten-by-four sheetings were $1.60 each. With spool cotton retailing at 25 cents a spool, the notions department would require steel safes for the day's receipts instead of cash registers.

A knowledge of these Civil War prices, together with an idea of the comparatively small increase in prices due to the present war gives us an excellent assurance of the splendid condition of the merchandise facilities of today when compared with the conditions that existed fifty years ago. The comparison is more apt when we consider that in August, 1864, the Civil War had run for about the same length of time that the present war has.

In spite of the fact that practically all of the sources of cheaper priced merchandise were located in Germany and Austria, merchandise today has risen in price but a very small percentage as compared with the truly terrifying prices which conditions compelled in 1864.

Miss Donna Sisson and Miss Lulu Todd went to Kansas City this morning to spend the day.

TYPHOID ISEASON NEAR R.R. JOY HEADS COMMITTEE

WITH MULTIPLICATION OF FLIES DANGER INCREASES.

Dr. Ravenel Advises Care in Selecting Vacation Quarters—Urges Use of Vaccine.

The season for typhoid fever is approaching. With the multiplication of flies this danger increases, and by the end of summer and the beginning of autumn the typhoid fever season is upon us.

According to Dr. M. P. Ravenel of the department of preventive medicine at the University of Missouri, care should be taken in selecting a place for a vacation. Due precautions in looking into the sanitary surroundings, especially the purity of the water supply and the proper disposal of sewage, should be exercised.

Typhoid fever can be practically eliminated by the use of anti-typhoid vaccine. This is given in three injections at intervals of ten days, so that the entire process is completed on the twentieth day. The injections are not painful, and seldom give rise to any marked reaction. The protection is almost absolute. It lasts from two and one-half to three years.

In the United States army, including the Philippine Scouts, the troops in Porto Rico, China, Alaska and other parts of the world, a total of 90,750 men, there were only four cases of typhoid fever and no deaths during an entire year. Such a thing as 90,000 men exposed in all ways and places of the world, passing an entire year without a single death from typhoid fever and only four cases, has never been heard of in the world before. Even this does not tell the entire story. Of these four cases, three were in recruits who had not been vaccinated. Only one vaccinated man out of 90,000 contracted typhoid fever, and his vaccination had been done two years previously.

Anti-typhoid vaccination is, therefore, advised as a preparation for the summer vacation. People over forty-five years of age do not require it, but persons under this age should take it. The laboratory of the department of preventive medicine of the University of Missouri furnishes the vaccine free of charge to all practicing physicians in the state on application.

IMPATIENT NATION

Guatemala, Mexico's Southern Neighbor, Suffers From Raids.

BIG LOSS BY DEPREDATIONS.

Northern Border of Country Attacked at Intervals, and Valuable Stores of Chile Are Taken and Readily Sold to Nearby Dealers, Who Ship to United States.

Guatemala City.—The people of the republic of Guatemala, Mexico's neighbor to the south, are about as nearly out of patience with the Carranza government as are those of the United States. The depredations along the northern border of this country, which began as soon as Carranza found himself accepted by the American government as a real ruler, have continued at intervals ever since.

The damage suffered by the citizens living on the frontier has not been so great as that inflicted on Americans along the Texas, Arizona and New PRESIDENT ESTRADA CABRERA.

Mexico border, because the dividing line is much shorter and the country is less thickly settled.

The tactics against Americans, however, seem to be the same as those employed in the north—the quick raid upon some isolated and unprotected hamlet, the shooting of a few inoffensive and unarmed people, the looting and the hurried get away.

Although the Carranza government has steadily disclaimed all responsibility for these incursions and has placed the responsibility upon the omnipresent bandits, enough evidence has been collected by government agents to show that many of the attacks were participated in by men known to be Carranza partisans maintaining a loose sort of military organization.

Among the few Americans in the northern part of Guatemala these attacks by Mexicans are spoken of as "chewing gum raids." In almost every case, particularly along the frontier of the department of Peten, the object of the marauders is to steal the laboriously obtained and valuable stores of chic from which chewing gum is made and for which the forests of Peten are famous.

The chic finds a ready market among dealers near by and is shipped out of the country as a Mexican product, usually to the United States.

A trip through the interior of the country is sufficient to convince the traveler that the republic was never in a more peaceful condition. The only revolutionary efforts that have been discovered have been those of Mexicans, most of whom are known to be in Carranza's pay. These gentlemen have been promptly deported.

United States silver dollars in the district between Guatemala City and Puerto Barrios, the Atlantic port, are much more in evidence than they are along Broadway. No one seems to be able to explain the influx of coins, but they are welcomed, and the tattered money of the republic is a bad second in popularity.

Only second in importance to the business boom among all classes is the effective solution of the high cost of living problem.

Bread forms the most important part of the people's food, and bread has been steadily rising in price on account of the control of the grist mills by a few large syndicates. President Estrada Cabrera called a halt on this by nationalizing all the water powers of the country, setting up mills and leasing them under suitable regulations.

These mills cut the price of bread, and the syndicate, unable to compete with them by using steam power, found their grip on the pantry of the republic broken.

Sailor Had Been in Almost Every Port, and Parents Didn't Know Him.

Townsend, Del.—Mourning as dead for thirty years, David Guessford returned to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Guessford, who live on a farm near here.

When sixteen years old young Guessford went away on a boat plying between Smyrna and Philadelphia as a sailor. He was anxious to see more of the country, so obtained a berth as a sailor on a vessel plying between New York and the East Indies, and that was the last heard of him.

He has been in practically every port in the world and on one occasion was wrecked in midocean and he and the captain of his vessel were the only survivors. He is said to have accumulated considerable money and will remain with his parents. They did not know him.

DRAINED ALL THE LAND.

Water Over Low Tract Disappeared When Ditch Is Dug.

Rockport, Mo.—The outlet ditch that drains Lake Nishnabotna at Langdon is the talk of the whole Missouri bottom. The effects have been almost miraculous.

It seems that when the ditch drained the Nishna, water standing all over the bottom, whether it had a connection with the ditch or not, disappeared, often in the night, leaving the ground fit for cultivation within a few days.

The Nishnabotna river has been standing full of water for about a year, and as the water level was almost as high as the great body of surrounding land, the water soaked through and saturated it all.

MOTORCAR "DEADLY WEAPON"

Judge Says It Is Used For Offensive and Defensive Operations.

Portland, Ore.—That a motorcar under certain conditions is a dangerous weapon was held by Judge Robert Morrow in the circuit court. The case was that of C. A. Warriner, accused of assault with a dangerous weapon in having with his motorcar ridden down a motorcycle on the Columbia highway which carried H. H. Beckman and his wife. Mrs. Beckman was badly injured.

Judge Morrow fortified his decision with citations from American precedents and observations on European battlefields, where, he said, the motorcar was employed as a weapon of offense and defense.

When she tried to drink, she drew back with an exclamation as the carbonate effervesced into her face: "Mamma, I can't drink this, it rains in my face."

We found I. D. Tarpley, living about ten miles west of Maryville and southeast of Quitman, very seriously ill with heart failure which attacked him after a fishing trip.

A few miles further on we stopped at the home of William Davenport, which was noticeable for the sleek appearance of the stock and the evidence of their care. Their home also is unusual, having a large screened porch almost the entire way around. Mr. Davenport is proud of a fine team of young mules almost perfectly matched. Mrs. Davenport is proud of 500 pure bred Plymouth Rocks.

Many Fine Homes There.

From there on into Maryville many unusually nice homes were seen. The Shelton lawn is a beautiful, sloping, shady place dotted with flowers. Mr. Shelton has just finished a new lean-to shed on his barn. He also has a fine bunch of calves with his cows. Zimmermanns and Schoenovers are finishing new homes west of town. The White, Bovard, Mrs. Martin Hunt and other homes are noticeably pretty along that road. Lorraine Huggbanks has an unusually large pile of wood ready for the stove.

The road from the Bovard corner into Maryville is in much better shape than it used to be but its smoothness is the result of constant travel rather than any working. Some one should get busy around Maryville to take away the reproach of the roads being at the worst nearest the city.

ALL ARE IN THE LEAD

Swanger is the leading "dry" candidate of the Republicans, and since his declaration considerable capital has been made by the state leaders of Henry Lamm, one of his rivals, who avers that Swanger has straddled the issue by running as the "dry" candidate in the country and the "wet" candidate in the cities.

The Anti-Saloon League has already expressed its disapproval of Lamm, Morris and McIndoe.

Who Will Carry This County?

Local Democratic leaders are at sea as to who will carry this county. One leading Democrat leader was of the opinion that Painter would be first here with Atkinson, second; Gardner, third; Roach, fourth. There doesn't seem to be any pronounced sentiment for any of the candidate for the governor.

The Republicans Divided. The Republican leaders here are divided as to their choice for governor and as to who will carry the county. Many of the local leaders are predicting Swanger will lead here.

THRONGS SEE BODY OF RILEY

Funeral Services Held This Afternoon and Body Placed in Indianapolis Vault.

Special to The Democrat-Forum. Indianapolis, July 25.—Policemen on duty at the statehouse estimated last night that 50,000 persons passed through the corridors and took a farewell look at the body of James Whitcomb Riley, the poet who "sang of common things."

Brief funeral services were held at the home at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon and the body will be placed in a receiving vault at Crown Hill cemetery here, according to tentative plans made last night. Among the honorary and active pallbearers will be Vice President Marshall, John W. Kern and Thomas Taggart, United States senators for Indiana; ex-Vice President Fairbanks, Gov. Sampel M. Ralston, Henry Watterson of Louisville, H. S. New, Meredith Nicholson and George Ade.

POET'S MEMORY HONORED

Prof. Miller Told of the Life of James Whitcomb Riley at Normal Assembly.

Prof. Harry A. Miller of the public speaking department gave a very interesting and appropriate program in assembly this morning. He told of the life of the great "Hoosier poet" who died Sunday, James Whitcomb Riley. Mr. Miller gave several readings, bringing out the great powers of Indiana's best loved writer.

Lawrence Kelly of St. Joseph visited for several days with Francis Hunt Jr.
